

Patient Scholarship

Application Form

As a Patients Included Event, the Organizing Committee of the 10th International Shared Decision Making Conference is pleased to offer as many scholarships for patient participants as possible within our budget.

Any patient or caregiver with experience relevant to the conference's central theme is eligible to apply. Scholarships will be awarded based on applicants' demonstrated interest in medical decision making research, willingness and ability to disseminate what they learned to their community or communities, and representation across age, gender, education and geographical location.

Each Patient Scholarship will consist of economy class travel to Québec City, taxi fare and incidentals, accommodation at residence located on the campus of Université Laval if relevant and one conference pass, including registration to Sunday workshops.

To submit your application, complete this form and send it back by email at isd2019@fmed.ulaval.ca by April 14, 2019, 11:59 pm EDT. Successful applicants will be notified by email from April 23, 2019. Best of luck!

Personal Information
Gender:	Male	Female	Gender Diverse
First Name:
Last Name:
Home Address:
City, Province:
Country:		Postal Code/Zip Code:
Age Group:	Under 20	20 to 34	35 to 49	50 to 64	65 and over
Email Address:
Highest Education Level:	High School or Equivalent		Postsecondary or College Degree
	Bachelors's Degree		Master's Degree		Doctoral Degree

Short bio (100 words max.):

Explain briefly why you're interested in attending the 10th International Shared Decision Making Conference (100 words max.):

Briefly describe what you hope to get out of this experience, and how the information, knowledge and skills you gain from the conference will be used (100 words max.):

Have you ever been involved in patient-oriented research projects about shared decision making or have you, or people you know, ever experienced shared decision-making with doctors or other care professionals? If yes, please briefly describe the experience (100 words max.):