

Edward George Buckley, M.D.

Dr. Buckley is a native of Cincinnati, Ohio. He graduated from Duke University with a BSE in Electrical Engineering. He received his MD degree from Duke followed by a residency in ophthalmology. He then completed two fellowships, one in pediatric ophthalmology and the other in neuro-ophthalmology, both at the University of Miami Bascom Palmer Eye Institute returning to the faculty at Duke.

He is currently the James and Joyce Gills Professor of Ophthalmology and Pediatrics, Chair of the Department of Ophthalmology, Vice Dean for Education for the School of Medicine and Vice Chancellor for Duke-National University of Singapore Affairs. He oversees all of the medical student education programs, PA, DPT, Path Assistant and Masters of Clinical Research, Biostatistics, Biomedical Sciences, and Clinical Leadership. He was the Chief of both the Pediatric and Neuro-ophthalmology services for many years. He has been involved with the development of the Duke-National University of Singapore Medical School (Duke-NUS) education program since 2001 and currently is the Vice Chancellor for Duke-NUS Affairs. He is the director of the pediatric ophthalmology fellowship program at Duke and has trained over 60 clinical and 10 research fellows. Although he is considered an expert in multiple aspects of pediatric ophthalmology, Dr. Buckley is best known for his research and clinical innovations involving the treatment of complicated strabismus and congenital cataracts.

Dr. Buckley has served as President of the American Association of Pediatric Ophthalmology (AAPOS) and Strabismus, Chair of the American Board of Ophthalmology, Chair of the Section of Ophthalmology of the American Academy of Pediatrics, President of the American Orthoptic Society, AOS Council Member and as Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of AAPOS. He has received the Life Time Achievement Award from the American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) and AAPOS. He has published/edited eight books, 40 book chapters, and over 140 peer-reviewed articles. He has given many prestigious named lectures including the Marshall Parks Lecture at the AAO, the Costenbader lecture at AAPOS and the Richard Scobee Memorial Lecture for the AACO.
